

Where is Your Home?

And welcome to you all. It is Portia and the Guides and our topic this week is Where Is Your Home?

So often we understand that human beings rely on a physical presence of home – structure, roof, floor, fireplace, bedrooms. This is where the human mind goes when it thinks of home. What happens then is often when you are not at the physical location of home you may feel unsure, unsafe, fearful.

We wish to remind you that home is within you, wherever you, whether it be in a hospital, in an airport, on the road, in other people's environment, in the office. It does not matter physically; home is with you. Home is within you. Your mind will say, yes but and fill in all of the fearful ideas about why that is not true. That you need a physical place called home, and if you don't have that you will be "homeless" in essence and without safety and security and warmth and comfort.

Home is within home, dear ones. Home, which is grace, comfort, kindness, embrace of love, nurturing, nourishing, safe, secure. All of these things are within you and do not rely on physical structures. This we understand may feel quite bold in idea, but it is the truth.

So, wherever you go, and wherever you find yourself with different people, different smells, different environments, new surroundings. Allow yourself to come back home – that is the central part of your being – and that is where true home resides. That is where the God that beats your heart and your spirit reside for you and there you are, at home, with everything that you need. And then we are not talking simply about spiritual needs. What manifests then is the presence of home in the third dimension, wherever you are.

Again, this may feel like a radical idea, but we ask you to explore this this week. Get comfortable and cozy up to the idea and the qualities of home. Those are within you. Even if your mind says they are not and they are dependent on outer circumstances and structures. This is not the truth as it comes from your local, fearful, narrow ego mind. Home and everything it represents is within you.

Be with this this week and allow home to resonate within you, all of the levels of your being. Be at home. All comfort and grace and warmth, kindness, compassion, provision is within you. Home is within you.

Our love and blessings are with you always. Namaste.
